It's Mardi Gras all year long for Bay St. Louis costume designer

Carter Church has been costuming Carnival-goers for the past 44 years

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Carter Church, Bay St. Louis resident and Mardi Gras costume designer extraordinaire, has loved Mardi Gras since the time he can remember. Church was born in Jackson, but his family moved to New Orleans when he was ten months old and took him to the parades on St. Charles Ave.

"Can you imagine being a five-year-old and watching the parades," he said. "They used the flambeaux back then and my dream was to be king of Sparta."

Church, who has been designing costumes for 44 years, realized his dream absolutely fabulous; every-

Church has also ridden as king of Iris, Nemesis and Dianna.

"To be in the business I am in you have to love it," he said. "You can make a living, but you are not going to get wealthy. You just have to love what you are doing, that is the only way."

Bay painted into a corner with traffic stripe uproar

Merchants say loss of parking would hurt city economy

BY MARY G. SEILEY

A project to improve traffic flow on North Beach Boulevard took a sharp U-turn Tuesday, as freshly laid road stripes were sandblasted away and blackened over.

City workers hit the street to un-do what had just been done by an outside contractor, as angry merchants insisted the project had a devastating economic impact. And many said that taking away 14 parking spaces outside their doors, making the commercial traffic lanes wider, had the adverse effect of creating a speedway where cars could once only inch along.

The yellow paint at issue had hardly dried before it was sandblasted and painted over, along a small stretch of the commercial blocks of North Beach.

City officials have postponed action on a request to put a bus garage and maintenance facility on St. Stanislaus' Hancock Street ball field, as controversy and debate swirls around the proposal.

At the request of two attorneys representing the downtown prep school, City Council agreed in a 4-0 vote to delay action on the matter until Feb. 19. District 2 council member James Thriffley, who teaches at the

Hancock receives $2.3M to extend water system

BY ED LEPOMA
Staff Writer

Hancock County's Water and Sewer District has landed another $2.3 million to add another 1,000 Shoreline Park residents to its water distribution system.

The news announced by District Chairman Al Smith Monday comes as the first 1,000 Shoreline Park residents on the eastern side of state Hwy. 603 are about to be notified the first-phase of the water system is nearing completion. Customers will be notified by mail they will have 60 days to hook up to the system.

Smith said he was notified Monday by the U.S. Agriculture Department's Rural Development Administration the district's application for expansion of the water system had been approved.

school, abstained from voting and said later he will not vote in the matter to avoid a conflict of interest.

Despite the delay agreed to Tuesday, there was plenty of discussion on the issue.

Council members heard from a group of residents adamantly opposed to the proposed facility. Many in the audience Tuesday had aired their concerns two weeks ago at the Planning and Zoning Commission - which agreed with the neighborhood and recommended against allowing the facility's operations.

But attorneys Michael Haas Jr. and Ronnie Artigues Jr. have since been hired to press the school's case, and got council to agree to give them three weeks to prepare their presentation.

At this point, it appears the school simply doesn't have the votes it needs.

Haas said citizens have brought up some "legitimate concerns" over the proposed project, saying the school needs time to "try to work through some of the issues" and "try to come up with some sort of consensus."

But that may not be easy, given the depth of opposition that's surfaced so far. Neighbors to the school, along Bookter, Union and Hancock streets say the bus barn will devalue their properties, worsen a bad traffic situation and pose a potential fire and contamination hazard.

The school apparently can build itself a new shed to park its buses without the city's permission, since it would be regarded as an "accessory" building to the campus.

But it needs a zoning variance to operate the new facility as a maintenance location, where workers would change the vehicles' oil, change tires and perform associated operations. One of the most controversial components to the plan would have fuel storage tanks at the facility.

School officials note they already have fuel tanks on the campus' existing bus storage/maintenance shed. City officials say those tanks were in place before city zoning, so they are exempt from zoning regulations.

If the tanks are relocated, however, they would have to be licensed by state or federal officials.

City Council president Bill Taylor, the at-large council member, and District 4 council member Bobby Compretta, both have expressed alarm over the fuel tank issue. Compretta's district includes St. Stanislaus.

Taylor said he's spoken with Stanislaus College president Brother Roland Talbot about the possibility of building the facility near the school's athletic complex further north on Bookter Street. "He said it would be too inconvenient," Taylor added.

But Taylor said despite the inconvenience, the football field is zoned industrial and "might be a good solution" to the controversy.

The plan calls for construction of a 5,600-square-foot open shed, near the intersection of Hancock and Union streets. Thriffley said he's advised Brother Talbot that the proposal wasn't presented correctly to the neighborhood, and the school should try to address the neighbors' concerns before proceeding.

Council member Doug Seal said he's concerned that if the school can "plant the seed" by building facility to house and maintain buses, the facility could evolve into a much more offensive commercial usage over the years.

"In my opinion, if he's not willing to go talk to the people, we'll just go ahead and vote it down," Compretta said in a Monday workshop, showing other council members photos of the existing facility.

The matter came up at Tuesday's regular council meeting when Joe Zeigler told council St. Stanislaus has been a "bad neighbor" for years. Zeigler, director of the state Department of Marine Resources, lives at 128 Bookter.

And one of his objections to the proposed facility may not bode well for the school's potential regulatory hurdles. Zeigler noted that the city had constructed a major drainage culvert across the school's property, expressing concern that a fuel or oil leak could contaminate wastewater that's headed for the Mississippi Sound.

Union Street resident Mike Drackett challenged anyone to state that the proposed facility won't devalue residential property values.

Water

For the second phase, the district will receive an outright grant of $1,099,645, and a low-interest loan of $1,200,355, Smith said.

He said the new funding will enable the District to provide water for the remaining homes on the east side of Shoreline Park. The water system will also be extended to the Garden Island Community and to homes in the unincorporated areas of Blue Meadow Road, Smith said.

An added benefit, Smith said, is that fire hydrants are being installed as part of the water distribution system, and homeowners should see some relief in insurance premiums once the system is in place.

After months of delay, Bruce Newton, who has been overseeing the first-phase of the water project for Duke Levy Engineering told the Echo Tuesday final testing is nearly complete.

The first-phase of the water distribution system was scheduled to go on line last April, but was stalled by financial problems encountered by the contractor hired to build the 150,000-gallon, 150-foot-high elevated water tank.

The contractor, Mardis Tank Co., of Batesville, is being fined $400-a-day in liquidated damages each day the project is delayed.

Newton said crews from Delta Testing of New Orleans this week and last week were making the final inspection of the water tower located off Chapman Road behind the East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department building.

Once the tower is approved, the water can be turned on, Newton said.

Smith said the district plans to file another application for funding with RDA for the third-phase of the water system. If funded, the district plans to provide water to the Shoreline Park area on the west side of Hwy. 603, he said.

Investigators handle 1,012 cases in 2001

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

The investigative department of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department handled some 1,012 cases during 2001, according to Chief Investigator Bob Lambert.

Lambert said, "We had a 72% efficiency rate, as our department has already solved 731 of these cases."

Lambert, who retired after 24 years with the New Orleans Police Department, was hired as the chief investigator by Sheriff Steve Garber. Lambert had spent most of his tenure with the NOPD in the investigative department.

Lambert said, "When Sheriff Garber took over the sheriff's office on Jan. 1, 2000, we began to install a computer system and software to help in record keeping. It was after mid-year before everything was up and running. We guess we handled some 900 to 1000 cases in 2000."

Of the cases handled in 2001, 480 adult arrests were made along with 218 juvenile detentions.

There are five investigators assigned to the Sheriff's Department in addition to Lambert.

Capt. Matt Karl, an investigator in 2001, now heads the newly formed Hancock County Narcotics Division which began January 1, 2002.

Investigators during 2001 were Karl, Phillip Pavolini, Kenny Hurt, Rita Blaize-Watson, Brandon Ladner and Bert Johnson.

Pavolini had to leave the department when he entered the race for Constable East, to which he was elected in November.

Ladner replaced Pavolini as investigator, and joining the investigative team on Jan. 28, 2002, was former deputy André Fizer.

Most active of the investigators in 2001 was Kenny Hurt, who handled some 348 cases and solved 304. He handles mostly juvenile cases with about one-third of them being sex-related.

Blaize-Watson, who does

general investigations, (thefts, burglaries, assaults, anthrax), worked 293 cases, solving 189. She investigated a total of 21 hoax anthrax cases after the 9-11 incident.

Pavolini, (thefts and burglaries), handled 85 cases, solving 54, during his short term as an investigator.

Karl, (forgeries, assaults and thefts), was involved in 167 cases, solving 100.

Ladner, (thefts and burglaries), Pavolini's replacement, worked 46 cases, solving 26.

Johnson is a special investigator who deals in pawn shop operations, and during the year set up a computer program to compile lists of stolen properties and works with other law enforcement agencies in tracking stolen items, Lambert said.

"In order for the department's investigators to do their job, they depend on assistance from the road deputies in addition to information and assistance from the general public," Lambert said.

In many cases several investigators work together as a team, assisting each other in gathering initial information.

Lambert is the lead investigator in all shootings and deaths with assistance from investigators.

The investigators' shifts are split in order to cover crime around the clock.

Hurt, Blaize-Watson, Ladner and Fizer rotate on a four-week cycle which includes a 4 p.m. to 1 a.m. shift with on-call status from 1 a.m. to 8 a.m. They also rotate weekend coverage. When not on the night shift, they work 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., which extend lots of times, Lambert said.

Lambert and Johnson usually work the 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. shift.

"Johnson's contacts are mostly in the day times, so the 8 to 5 shift is ideal for him," Lambert said.

Lambert said he spends his time assigning cases and also in contacting other law enforcement agencies for necessary information related to cases the department may be working.

"You best believe that if something major breaks, the entire investigative team, including myself, will be working day or night," Lambert added.

"One of the features we have added during this administration, is a secretary to receive calls from the general public needing matters investigated.

Lt. Ann Peneguy is the investigator's secretary and she can set up appointments, thus saving a person time, not having to wait until someone is in and available to talk to them," Lambert said, adding, "Peneguy can be reached by calling 467-5101."

Currently Lambert is working with the Justice Court judges and the Gulf Coast Woman's Center for Nonviolence, Inc., to make the community more aware of domestic problems in the county.

They plan to work in the schools and further education of deputies who respond to domestic calls, Lambert said.

The Narcotics Division, headed by Karl, is composed of six agents, of which one is from the Mississippi National Guard, and a secretary.

Lambert said close communication is kept between the Investigation Department and Narcotics Division.

Jail meal service contract saves dough

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

The new food service for Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility went into effect on Tuesday, January 15, and is running very smooth, Sheriff Steve Garber reports.

"It is expected to save the county some $50,000 a year by using a private contract food service," Garber said.

The county entered a contract with Valley Services, Inc., of Jackson, which serves over 250,000 meals a day in a 12-state area.

The cost of the service is $1.21 per meal for a total of $3.63 a day as compared to a prior cost of $1.75 per meal for the inmates, Garber said.

Valley, established since 1960, has 2,000 production employees, 50 registered dietitians and 150 managers.

The company has clients which include hospitals, colleges and universities, industrial cafeterias, commercial and office building cafeterias, state and federal programs, daycare facilities, prisons, jails and elderly feeding satellite meal contracts.

Valley was recently featured in Restaurant and Institutions Magazine's "400 Issue" as one of the largest meal providers in the country.

The meals at the Hancock Criminal Facility for the inmates is 2,900 calories a day, and menus are given 30 days in advance.

Menus are supervised by Valley registered dietitians to meet American Correctional Association Nutritional and Calories Requirements as they provide for medical, religious and ethnic considerations.

The prior food at the jail was purchased and supervised by Sheriff's Department personnel and preparations by inmates, Garber said.

"With Valley's contract, inmates still prepare the food in the jail's kitchen under supervision of a manager from the company. Valley is responsible for securing the food and also provides the plates and utensils," Garber added.

"One of the reasons for the lower price per meal is because of the buying power by Valley."

The contract is on the basis of 100 inmates per day, if less than 100, the cost is $1.35 a meal, but the inmate census in the jail averages over 120, Garber said.

Jailers work 12-hour shifts, and meals are available to them, if they wish, at $2 each from Valley, Garber reported.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors recently moved $30,000 from the Sheriff's Department for food for inmates to the newly formed Narcotics Division, Garber said.

"Another plus with the services offered by Valley is that during an emergency or disaster, they are able to over night bring in truck loads of frozen meals if necessary," Garber said.

Volunteers needed for 4-H conference

BY BONNIE COBLENTZ

Volunteer 4-H leaders across Mississippi will gather in late February to celebrate 100 years of 4-H, an organization dedicated to the improvement of youth.

The annual 4-H Volunteer Leaders Conference will be held Feb. 22 to 24 at Wesley Pines Conference, Retreat and Camping Center in Gallman.

"This year's conference will provide an excellent opportunity for 4-H volunteers, Extension faculty and friends of 4-H to participate in outstanding workshops, great fellowship and fun," said Harvey Gordon, 4-H volunteer development specialist with Mississippi State University's Extension Service.

Organizers are inviting all past officers of the Mississippi 4-H Volunteer Leaders Association and recipients of the Outstanding Volunteer Leaders Award to attend this year.

Conference highlights include 20 workshops, funshops, officer elections and installation, entertainment, auctions and a banquet.

Eight outstanding volunteers and the Kenneth Cook Award recipients will be recognized for their service.

Motivational speaker Debra Tierce will give the keynote address Saturday night. Registration fees vary by option, so contact the local county Extension office for details. The registration deadline is Feb. 1.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas

More than 30 years later, Camille still wreaks havoc

It is surprising how things which have happened many years ago can come back to haunt folks.

Case in point, following Hurricane Camille in 1969, Beach Boulevard was repaired in the 100 and 200 blocks of North Beach and was not done the proper width.

Not too many years ago, the Bay City Council tried to amend the problem, but failed to do so.

If I am not mistaken, a portion of the beach road was covered with the sidewalk. The width varied about 3 to 4 feet.

Several beachfront merchants complained about the city wanting to remove the sidewalk in order to make the roadway the proper width.

Travel along Beach Boulevard with parking on both sides of the road is very tight, not to mention the problems when a delivery is being made to the beachfront merchants. The businesses have to have deliveries in order to stay in business. To solve the problem, Bay St. Louis' administration should consider widening the boulevard to its original width, and this would help traffic flow very much.

Do not forget the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Business After Hours from 5 to 7 this evening at the Waveland Library & Literacy Center on Coleman Avenue.

Sponsors are the City of Waveland, Hancock County Library System and the Library Foundation of Hancock County.

Plans for the Waveland Library's very big expansion will be on display.

Also to be honored is Donna Hutchings, Adult Education/Family Literacy coordinator for the library system, who will be retiring after 10 years of service.

During her 10 years as coordinator she has expanded the program from a one-on-one literacy program to a multi-functional family literacy center.

The program is very unique and has helped many citizens secure a GED certificate in addition to helping many of its graduates continue their education beyond that point.

Ms. Hutchings needs to be commended on her efforts, and a good turnout will show the community's appreciation for the great job she has done.

The Chamber's After Hours is also a good time to meet old friends and make new ones.

I have been told there will be some good snacks and refreshments and a few door prizes.

I went fishing with my brother Raymond of Waveland along with our brother Clemence from North Carolina back in October out of Bayou Caddy. During the trip we talked about the number of crab pots, sunken boats and other objects in the bayou and Sound.

It is interesting that a Coast Guard Chief said it was the most polluted area they cover from Houma, La. to Long Beach, Miss.

It is good to see the Coast Guard is in the process of helping clean up the bayou which is a very popular fishing area.

Barbour eyeing Mississippi' governor's race

Onetime Yazoo country lawyer Haley Barbour, who parlayed his national Republican connections into becoming one of Washington's biggest fatcat lobbyists, last week laid down what appears a clear marker for Mississippi's 2003 gubernatorial race.

Barbour, 54, was back in the state taking soundings in several GOP enclaves, appearing at this point to be the consummate choice of the Mississippi Republican establishment to unseat Democratic Gov. Ronnie Musgrove, whose vulnerability increases daily.

The hefty longtime GOP workhorse obviously senses the state's political climate is right for him to come back home and snag the governor-ship which Mississippi Republicans let slip away from them in 1999 with the disappointing performance of ex-U.S. Rep. Mike Parker.

It's still unclear why Barbour, described last year by the Washington-based magazine, "Nation" as "the most powerful GOP influence merchant in the city," is talking as though he may eschew millions of bucks from such clients as tobacco, health insurance, credit card and electric power companies on an ego trip to become top Republican dog down here in magnolia-land.

I still say, though, don't count out U.S. Sen. Trent Lott emerging as the GOP's horse in the next gubernatorial round. That depends on whether he is booted later this year by Senate Republicans as their leader.

Make no mistake, although Barbour has never been elected to public office in Mississippi, he would be a formidable gubernatorial candidate, despite his political baggage, which Democrats no doubt exploit. Barbour's political acumen was well demonstrated when he was chairman of the Republican National Committee from 1993 to 1996. He played a major role along with controversial U.S. Rep. Newt Gingrich in the 1994 "contract with America" revolution that gave the GOP congressional control for the first time in 40 years.

Barbour raised more money for the GOP than any predecessor. But because of some of his creative fundraising schemes as RNC chairman, Barbour narrowly escaped serious legal trouble with Congress and the Justice Department.

While the Democrats were taking heat over allegedly accepting funds from China in the 1996 campaign, Barbour meantime had quietly set up his own fund-raising front group which hauled in several million dollars of questionable money from Far East sources.

Barbour created what was called the National Policy Forum, a supposed "think tank" that claimed tax-exempt status as a nonpartisan policy organization.

In reality, it was just a facade to funnel campaign soft money into Republican campaign coffers in the critical 1994 elections.

Barbour solicited hundreds of thousands of dollars from Hong Kong businessman Ambrosius Tung Young that were used as collateral

Good news: Refinancing saves state $10 million

By Dirk Dedeaux
House of Representatives

Earlier this month, we heard from Gov. Ronnie Musgrove, who delivered his third "State of the State" address in the House chamber. He used the theme, "Our good work must not be less than our best," and pledged to work closer with members of the Legislatures on issues facing us.

In his address, the Governor called attention to two Mississippians from Durant who lost their lives at the Pentagon in the Sept. 11 attacks - Joe Ferguson and Lt. Col. Jerry Don Dickerson Jr.

Their parents were in the House chamber. He also praised military troops from Mississippi who have been called to serve the nation.

Among issues facing the state the governor cited education, health and economic development. Musgrove said he would present a package of health-care legislation next week.

He praised the Legislature for the teachers' pay raise and for instituting tough teachers' accountability measures to ensure children of a quality education.

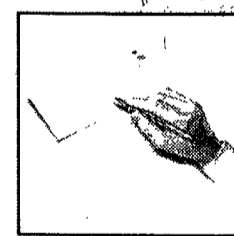

Also, in other news, State Treasurer Marshall Bennett has announced that the state was able to capitalize on the lowering interest rates.

The Department of Treasury is able to refinance $313,495,000 worth of general obligation bonds whose interest rates ranged from 5.65 to 7.5 percent interest.

Our letters policy

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers. Letters must be signed and include address or telephone number. Letters should be brief, preferably typewritten and double-spaced. Only one letter per writer per month. The editor reserves the right to edit or reject letters. Letters of thanks, expressions of appreciation and political endorsements are inappropriate.

The new rate when adjusted for true interest cost is 4.7%.

The total savings to the state is $10,202,227. This is good news for the taxpayers.

Rep. Dedeaux may be contacted at the State Capitol, (601) 359-3770 or P.O. Box 1018, Jackson MS 39215-1018.

COUNTIES

May a county require overweight vehicles to register with the road manager?

A The regulatory scheme provided by the Mississippi Code does not appear to include or contemplate empowering boards of supervisors to require potential users of the county roads to acquire a permit except under the circumstances and conditions enumerated by Section 63-5-51 (special permits).

for a $2.1 million commercial bank loan to NPF. Significantly, that same day NPF gave $1.6 million of it to the RNC, which was largely distributed to state Republican Parties at crunch time of the 1994 elections.

When NPR's tactics were called into question by Time Magazine and several other publications, Barbour heatedly contended it was not illegal foreign money and that this charge was just an idea concocted by the "liberal" media. Earlier, Barbour had accused the Clinton White House "covering up a well-organized scheme of foreign contributions."

But Barbour's own NPF/Hong Kong fund connection soon became the subject of inquiry. A Senate committee investigating campaign fund-raising issued subpoenas for NPF's documents, as did a federal grand jury. It had already become known that Barbour's claim that NPF had been given a tax-exemption by the Internal Revenue Service was not true. Actually, the IRS denied a tax-exemption for the NPF on grounds it was partisan arm of the GOP.

The Federal Election Commission, which meantime investigated the NPF's Hong Kong loan, deadlocked 3 to 3 over whether to prosecute it as a federal law violation. In December, 1996, Barbour shut down the NPF. Barbour and the Republican National Committee resisted every request to turn over NPF's records and documents, claiming attorney-client privilege.

A District of Columbia federal district court judge, however, ruled the documents contained evidence of a possible crime and could not remain secret. However, in July, 2000, Barbour was taken off the hook by a federal appeals court which overturned the lower court and held that files relating to the Hong Kong connection were protected.

Terry O'Donnell, Barbour's Washington attorney, informed me a while back that Barbour is now "all clear" as far as investigations of fund-raising during his RNC regime.

On leaving the Republican National Committee post in 1996, Barbour stepped through the "revolving door" in D.C. parlance into the highly lucrative world of lobbying.

Around the Beltway he is also recognized as a major player in opposition to campaign finance reform and cutting off the soft money spigot, despite the fact his old Mississippi GOP ally, Sen. Thad Cochran, backs it.

Barbour is remembered in Mississippi as the GOP's 1982 foe of revered Democratic Sen. John Stennis, in the only other statewide race Barbour has ever made. Stennis won handily.

Some old-timers recall that Barbour's campaign staff, apparently with his approval, sought to ridicule Stennis' age, plastering "Happy 80th Birthday Sen. Stennis" banners and an 80th birthday cake when Stennis spoke at the Neshoba County Fair.

BR. DONALD MCGARTH

Brother Donald McGarth, SC, 84, of Bay St. Louis, died Sunday, Jan. 27, 2002, at the St. Stanislaus Brothers' residence in Bay St. Louis.

Born in Cambridge, Mass. Aug. 30, 1917, Donald McGarth, son of Francis and Elizabeth McGarth, joined the Brothers of the Sacred Heart at Metuchen, N.J., in 1932.

He pronounced first vows Aug. 15, 1937, and took the name Bother Osmond, a name which he used until 1965, when like most Brothers, he returned to his baptismal name. He made his perpetual vows as a Brother of the Sacred Heart at St. Stanislaus Aug. 9, 1943.

Brother Donald began his teaching career of 50 years in 1938 at St. Willibrord in Verdun, Canada. After teaching for 15 years in the Brothers' schools in Canada, New York, Alabama, Louisiana, and Mississippi, Brother Donald began ministry as a missionary teacher in East Africa.

For more than 20 years, he taught school, served as director and headmaster at the Brothers' schools in Nyeri and Tororo, Kenya; Nyapea, Lira and Gulu, Uganda; and Okaru, Sudan. His final 15 years he taught math on the bayous of Louisiana, at E. D. White in Thibodaux and then at Vandebilt in Houma.

After his retirement in 1988, he served the Brothers' community in New Orleans. In August of 2001 he moved to the Brothers' Residence in Bay St. Louis where he received partial nursing care.

Survivors include a sister-in-law, as well as several nephews and cousins in Massachusetts and Texas.

The family prefers memorials to the Brothers of the Sacred Heart Foundation, 4540 Elysian Fields Avenue, New Orleans, LA 70122.

In Memoriam In Loving Memory of JOBY NECAISE MAY 18, 1973 - FEB. 1, 1990

Twelve years have passed since the loss of Joby. Our memory will live forever.

Memories never fade through the years. They are nurtured by our love, they are watered by our tears.

Our memories live forever with the strength sent from heaven up above.

To eternally keep us connected to Joby, who we love.

We remember you today, and we know what a joy a son can be.

We hold you in our memories until your face we see.

So Sadly missed

Memorial Heart Team receives recognition

In a study released by Solucient, the leading source of health care intelligence and benchmark information, Memorial Hospital was named to the "Solucient 100 Top Hospitals: Cardiovascular Benchmarks for Success."

This annual study names organizations that are among the best performing hospitals for treating heart attacks and cardiovascular disease with mortality and complication rates as much as 27 percent lower than other hospitals. The study also analyzes specific procedures and conditions including Coronary Artery Bypass Graft (CABG) and Percutaneous Transluminal Coronary Angioplasty (PTCA).

"We believe we provide excellent patient care and being recognized by this study reinforces our belief," said Jim Kaigler, President and Chief Executive Officer of Memorial Hospital.

Death Is A Doorway

On the wings of death
 the soul takes flight, into the land where there is no night.
 For those who believe what the Saviour said
 will rise in the glory.
 Though they be dead...
 So death come to us
 just to "Open the Door"
 To the Kingdom of God and life evermore.

Love Ya,
 Mama, Brothers, Sisters,

Stripes -- Bay St. Louis

ing had been done by Mid-State Traffic Safety, Inc., a Gautier company hired by the city for $26,000 to implement parts of a two-year-old plan for the city throughout downtown.

"I had a zero day," said merchant Carole Bianco of activity in her Gifts By The Bay shop Thursday, after workers blocked off the parking areas beside the sidewalks, preparing to paint. "We cannot afford to have zero days." Before the striping work, merchants said they were enjoying a business boom.

Shop owners vented their anger and frustration at a City Council workshop meeting Monday night, although they clearly had been told in advance that the work was a "mistake" and would be reversed.

"I just want to tell you gentlemen how much one parking space means to us down there," said Dock Of The Bay owner Jerry Fisher. "Am I right, there was a mistake?"

Ward 3 council member James Thriffley insisted there was. He said only one parking space in the area was rightfully eliminated: in front of the New York New York restaurant at State Street, where a traffic vision problem existed. Otherwise, Thriffley and the merchants said, nothing should have been done to eliminate parking on the west side of the street.

But under a traffic plan which was the basis for the work, engineers with Brown & Mitchell Inc. called for just that. "Eliminate 14 parking spaces on the west side of Beach Boulevard between Demontluzin and Main streets, allowing for 8-foot striped parallel parking spaces on east side...and two (2) full 12-foot traffic lanes," the plan advised.

To create the two 12-foot lanes, workers painted a solid yellow line where drivers once parked on the east side of the street, and a double-yellow stripe down the new "middle" of the street.

That gave enough room for the wider lanes, and newly painted parking spaces on the beach side of the street— at the expense of spaces on the opposite side.

"I think the guy thought he was doing Interstate 10," Thriffley said to the contractors about the contractor's work, insisting there was a mistake that would be corrected.

Public Works Director Ron Vanney confirmed that an error had occurred. "It did happen as a mistake. I don't know where it fell though the cracks, but it was a mistake and will be corrected," Vanney said at the Monday meeting.

But Tuesday, some members of city council said they weren't sure what "mistake" was made, since the work had been done as the engineering plan indicated it should be. Thriffley said that, regardless of what the plan stated, it was never the intention of city officials to eliminate parking on the west side of the street.

"There was never any talk of making the lanes so wide you couldn't park on one side of the street, he said.

Officials plan to leave the resurrected parking spaces on the west side undefined, while newly defined slots on the east side will remain in place. That's the same system in effect further south on Beach Boulevard, where churchgoers create spaces in front of Our Lady of the Gulf on Sunday. New parking spaces have been painted on the beach side of the street there.

Only one other member of City Council jumped into the parking space squabble this week publicly - Ward 1 council member Doug Seal insisted the city had created a new liability for itself. Seal said as the city improves the roadway, it's governed by state DOT regulations.

Having made the road "safe" with the changes, he said, may it make the roadway "unsafe" by reversing itself? That's putting the city on a legal "hook," he added on Monday.

On Tuesday, he still was concerned. "We had improved the roadway using DOT guidelines. Now the city has gone back and done something against regulations," he said.

City lawyers said they'd check into Seal's liability concerns.

Meanwhile, merchants appeared elated at the new situation. Less than 24 hours after their appearance at city hall on Monday, city workers were in the process of ~~undoing~~ the work. Vanney said the contractor wouldn't be asked to reverse the painting scheme, since it was done in accord with the traffic plan.

Aside from the squabble of striping, merchants had several additional ideas for council's consideration, including instituting time limits at some parking areas. That would help keep local employees from hogging valuable slots at the expense of tourists and shoppers, they said. Thriffley endorsed the idea.

But Police Chief Frank McNeil said posting time limits would create an enforcement problem, possibly requiring the city to designate a "meter maid" to mark tires and keep track of who's overstayed the limit. Shop owner Vicki Niolet suggested police could hold Hancock County motorists to the limit, but show some "leniency" when out-of-state cars stayed in place too long.

Work to implement the traffic plan continues, including changing Court Street from a two-way route to one-way, west bound from Beach Boulevard to Second Street. That change, effective Monday, will allow establishing 14 parking spaces on the north side of the street. Freshly painted parking spaces and road striping are evident on many downtown streets, with what officials say will be a large net gain of defined parking availability.

Smith named Coast's top federal employee

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

Ann Smith, chief of the Family Member Program Flight for the 81st Services Division at Keesler Air Force Base, has been selected as the Outstanding Civilian Employee of the Year by the Mississippi Coast Association of Federal Administrators.

Rear Admiral Thomas Q. Donaldson, V, presented the award during MCAFA's annual awards dinner Dec. 15 at the Keesler Air Force Base Officers' Club.

Smith and the other nominees for this year's award are indicative of the dedicated, capable and concerned federal employees on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Smith, a resident of Gulfport, has been a federal employee for over 17 years.

Recognized as one of Keesler's Best of the Best for 2001, Smith also received the Air Force Exemplary Civilian Service Award and was the 81st Service Division's Outstanding Civilian of the Quarter for the 4th quarter.

She demonstrated a high level of professionalism in managing Keesler's Child Development Center, Family Care Center, and Youth Center.

She leads the way in community involvement and was handpicked to serve on the Mississippi State University Early Childhood Institute evaluation team.

She is also an active member of the Base Community Action & Information Board, the Family Advocacy Committee, and the Family Maltreatment Committee Management Team.

Other nominees for Federal Employee of the Year were Judy Dauro, Naval Meteorology & Oceanography Command, Stennis; Robert Floyd, 81st Training Group, Keesler; America Cristina Fritz, Naval Construction Battalion Center, Gulfport; Ron Magee, National Aeronautics & Space Administration, Stennis; Diana Noble, Supervisor of Shipbuilding, Pascagoula; Shelia Noel, Civilian Personnel Office, Keesler; Althea Scarbrough, Supervisor of Shipbuilding, Pascagoula; Kirk Sharp, National Aeronautics & Space Administration, Stennis; and Sally Wilson, Naval Construction Battalion Center, Gulfport.

Nominees for Federal Employee of the Year are chosen by their respective agencies and an independent review panel selects based on job performance, self-improvement, extra professional activity and community/church participation.

The 2001 judging committee was comprised of Mayor Joe Cole of Pascagoula, Larry Barnett of Mississippi Power and member of Partners for Stennis, and Thomas Wiltz, author and radio personality. Rear Admiral Donaldson is president of MCAFA for 2001-2002.

The association was established in 1972 to represent the federal agencies in Jackson, Harrison and Hancock counties and provide local governmental officials with key information on the various federal activities on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

It promotes an understanding and cooperation among the agencies with the local communities and is active in supporting programs that include the Combined Federal Campaign, emergency disaster planning, equal employment opportunities, labor resources and employment training practices.

Retirement seminar planned Tuesday

Ron Weatherly, the Edward Jones investment representative in Waveland, will host a free program on planning for retirement on Tuesday, Feb. 5 at 5 p.m.

During the one-hour program, guests will hear from Tom Foster of Hartford Life and Scott Zarinelli of Edward Jones on specific steps investors can take this year to help make their retirement dreams a reality.

"Most Americans look forward to the day they can retire," said Weatherly. "This program will offer investors the information they need to make informed decisions about their financial future," he said.

This live, interactive program is presented at Edward Jones branch offices nationwide via the firm's private satellite network.

For more information on the Feb. 5 broadcast or to reserve a seat for this free program, contact Weatherly at 228-467-6869.

Business workshop offered

The USM Small Business Development Center is offering a workshop, "Starting and Operating a Business in Gulfport" on Thursday, Feb. 7, at the following times and locations: from 8:30 a.m. until noon at the Gulfport Police Auditorium, 2220 15th Street, Gulfport, and from 5 to 8:30 p.m. at the Orange Grove Community Center, 13472 Highway 49, Gulfport.

These workshops are for anyone planning to start a business in the city of Gulfport, or for anyone currently operating a business in the city of Gulfport.

The following topics (specific to the city of Gulfport) will be covered: business licensing and zoning, building permits, homebased businesses, insurance issues, and much more.

There is no fee for these workshops, but pre-registration is required. To register or for information, call the USM Small Business Newspapers In Education is a program in which newspapers supplement traditional teaching materials in the classroom. N.I.E. programs are provided to local schools through paid sponsorship programs.

Newspapers In Education programs teach with the newspaper. Students learn to become critical thinkers through reading, analyzing and discussing newspaper stories and editorials. They use the knowledge they gain to engage in conversations with peers and family members.

If you would like to be an NIE SPONSOR or if you are a teacher and would like to use the Echo's N.I.E. program in your classroom you may contact RITA BREUN, N.I.E. coordinator at THE SEA COAST ECHO 467-5474.

Costume -- Carter Church

Above and below: More of the Gather Ye Rosebuds-sponsored Mardi Gras costume display at the Hancock County I-10 Welcome Center. The costumes were all designed by Carter Church, of Bay St. Louis.

shop on Main St. in Bay St. Louis. He has been designing for Iris for 40 years, Sparta for 26 years, a Thibideaux krewe for 25 years, a Lake Charles krewe for 16 years, and designed for Nereids for 29 years, though he no longer does their costumes. He also designs for a krewe in La Rose, LA, and Montgomery, AL.

"I make mostly the costumes of the court," said Church. "About 150 to 200 costumes a year. The average queen's dress takes about 400 hours and ranges from $4,000 to $6,000."

The most expensive dress he has made cost about $11,000. The owner wanted white mink on her train, instead of rabbit fur or fake fur.

Each stone on a costume is sewn on individually by hand, Church said. During the season, he sometimes works 20 to 22 hours a day.

"I used to work 'round the clock, but I can't do that anymore," he laughed.

Church also does designs for individuals, weddings and custom clothing in the "off season," he said. Some of the designs for next year's Mardi Gras are already getting under way. Some people have already placed orders for other years.

Actual work on the designs will begin in June, he said, with appliques and accessories being first on the agenda, and other work beginning as bolts of fabric arrive.

"Mardi Gras is an excellent example of the most planned opulence," Church said. "Most of these costumes will only be worn two or three times, to a ball, to a parade, and maybe to the next year's ball, depending on the krewe. Then most of them will end up in the attic for the kids to play with and then be thrown into the trash, though some are kept for display."

Part of Church's job is to travel with the costumes and help the owners dress before the event. Though he can't be everywhere, he says he does try to be there to help with the elaborate head dresses and accessories.

"Getting into these costumes involves a lot more than just zipping up a dress," he said.

These days, Church said, he usually goes into New Orleans a day or two before Mardi Gras, when he delivers his last costumes and "plays tourist" for the day. "Then I come back here and watch the Krewe of Real People on Mardi Gras day and go home," he said. "By the time Mardi Gras day gets here, I'm tired."

Some of Church's designs are on display at the Cabildo in New Orleans. Many of his designs will be on display through March 15 at the Hancock County Welcome Center on an exhibit sponsored by Gather Ye Rosebuds, a Coast rose society.

Gather Ye Rosebuds has put up the display the past five years in a row. For more information, call the center at 533-5444.

Super Bowl fans flying into Stennis

BY ED LEPOMA
Staff Writer

Stennis International Airport will benefit from this Sunday's Super Bowl in New Orleans.

Airport Manager Bill Cotter told the Port and Harbor Commission Monday that so far at least 18 owners of corporate or private jets have made reservations to land at Stennis, beginning some time today.

"I expect we'll have close to $40 million worth of aircraft anchored down at Stennis," said Cotter. He said some of the jets coming in are Gulfstream 5s, similar to the 737s used by commercial airlines.

The football fans will leave their planes at Stennis while they go on to party in New Orleans, Cotter said.

In the event the visitors need to rent a car, Stennis is prepared for that, too.

At Monday's recessed meeting, commissioners approved a lease agreement with Enterprise Car Rental.

Cotter said Enterprise will station at least two rental cars behind the fence at the airport terminal building for the convenience of visitors. Under the agreement, Enterprise will pay the airport a 10 percent commission on any car rentals, Cotter said.

He also reported the deteriorating Martin 404s have finally been removed from Stennis.

Cotter said a man and his two sons arrived from California last Sunday and began salvaging parts from the four aging 404s.

"They were very professional. They came in last Sunday and were out of here by Friday," he said.

Cotter said the parts that could not be salvaged were hauled off airport property.

Sam Stewart of Chino, Ca., also paid the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission $2,000 to salvage parts from the planes. Stewart collects the Martins, and has completely restored one formerly used by the singing Doobie Brothers, Cotter said.

The planes were parked for years on the north apron of the airport, but had to be moved when the airport let a contract last year to rehabilitate the runway and extend a connecting taxiway.

The commission let two previous contracts for disposal of the planes, but one party asked to be let out of the contract, and the second party forfeited $5,000 when the deadline passed for him to act.

Weekend accident kills Pass Christian man

BY ED LEPOMA
Staff Writer

A Pass Christian man was killed in a one-car accident Sunday, according to Harrison County Coroner Gary Hargrove.

Hargrove identified the victim as John R. Robinson III, 33. The coroner said Robinson was driving his vehicle at a high rate of speed westbound on W. Wittman Road north of Henderson Avenue at about 8:13 a.m. when he apparently lost control of the vehicle on a curve just past the bridge over Bayou Portage. The car became airborne and hit a tree, then flipped over and landed upside down. Hargrove said Robinson was not wearing a seat belt and died of massive head injuries at the scene.

Boone enjoys perfect day for Hancock

BY JOSEPH W. EX II
Staff Writer

The Hancock Hawks hosted their 5th annual Alumni Day for basketball on Saturday in the newly-renovated Hancock Hawk Gymnasium.

The day featured shooting games like free-throw contests, three-point contests, and alumni games for the men and women. There was dinner provided for the alumni and the current Hawk squad swept Oak Grove before the reunited crowd.

Hawk head coach Michael Ladner said, "I thought the day went well and was a success. We had several games and contests set up for the alumni including scrimmage games for both the men and women alumni."

"This year for the men's scrimmage, we lined up alumni from the 1990's and 2000's against alumni from the 1960's through 1980's. It was the first time in the five years that we have been doing this that the younger team has won."

"All in all the day was a great success. It was a nice reunion for the fans and the Hawk alumni."

On Saturday, the two varsity teams hosted the Oak Grove Warriors in a division clash. The Hancock Lady Hawks (18-8) defeated Oak Grove 59-40 behind Brooke Necaise's 22 points while the boys ran past the Warriors 80-60. However, the real story was on two performances in the boys game.

Daron Boone was the image of perfection for the Hancock Hawks on Saturday and Cody Ladner wasn't far behind him. Boone didn't miss a shot all game.

That's right, Daron Boone was perfect from the field and the charity stripe. Cody Ladner missed just one shot from the field and was perfect at the free throw line.

Boone was 9-for-9 from the field and 7-for-7 from the line for 25 points while Ladner was 8-for-9 from the field and 6-for-6 from the line for 22 points.

Cody Ladner poured in 22 points on a 99% day. Levi Ladner also added 12 points in the win.

On Tuesday, the Hancock Hawks (13-13) defeated the homestanding Long Beach Bearcats 63-60. Hancock jumped out to a 36-31 half-time lead and held on to the win behind Cody Ladner's 31 points.

Ladner remained consistent for the Hawks going 7-for-9 from 2-point range, 3-for-4 from 3-point range, and 8-for-10 at the free throw line. Ladner hit the shot that put the Hawks ahead 63-61 in the waning moments of the game.

Daron Boone took a steal on a fast break and made the final tally for the Hawks with :03 left to play. Boone finished the game with 9 points and 6 rebounds.

Matt Ladner was the other double-digit scorer for Hancock with 13 points and six assists.

In other area action during the past week, St. Stanislaus was swept in the season series with Pass Christian in high school basketball with a 70-53 loss on Saturday.

The win improves Pass Christian to 21-4 and 11-0 in the division. The Pirates will be the number one seed in the division tournament slated for Feb. 11-15 at Gautier. Garland Stewart led the Pirates with 23 points and 10 rebounds while Gabe Willis poured in 18 points for the Rocks.

On Saturday, the Bay High Tigers lost to Picayune 4-1 in high school boys soccer action that decided the runner-up spot in Division 7 Class 4A and a berth in the state soccer playoffs. Michael Bourgeois scored the lone goal for the Tigers.

Also on Saturday, the Hancock Hawks lost to St. John in high school soccer 4-3. Chase Sackett tallied a hat trick for Hancock with three goals. Picayune defeated the Bay High Tigers 4-1 in boys soccer on Saturday. The scoring details for Bay High were unavailable.

On Friday, the high school hardwood was very busy for area teams. The Bay High Tigers split with the Picayune Maroon Tide.

The Lady Tigers (19-6) defeated Picayune 62-29 behind a double-double from Kendra Reed. She scored 22 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. Carmen Labat added 8 points and 6 rebounds in the win.

The Bay High boys dropped their game with Picayune 72-45. The Maroon Tide improved to 26-1 on the season while Bay High fell to 9-15 overall. Lorenzo Lewis led the Tigers with 16 points.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws tallied a 73-37 win over the homestanding D'Iberville Warriors on Friday. Darius Acker scored 22 points followed by Sean Benoit with 15 points.

The Pass Christian Pirates swept a pair of games from the Vancleave Bulldogs on Friday night.

The boys team squeaked by Vancleave 76-73. Garland Stewart led the way with 19 points.

The Lady Pirates (10-13) recorded a 68-31 win over the Lady Bulldogs. Kenyetta Woods had 19 points and 9 assists in the win. Charlela Melancon added 15 points in the win.

OLA & SSC advance to 2nd round in soccer

BY JOSEPH W. EX II
Staff Writer

What a busy night on the sports scene in Bay St. Louis on Tuesday. There were several games being played within miles of each other.

The OLA soccer team continued its quest for a third consecutive state soccer title. The St. Stanislaus soccer team opened the first round of the state playoffs with a resounding win over D'Iberville.

The Bay High Tigers hosted the #7 ranked Biloxi Indians in basketball. And, finally the St. Stanislaus basketball team had the awesome experience of hosting the #1 ranked Gulfport Admirals in the Brother Peter Memorial Gym.

This may be the first time that SSC has hosted top ranked team in the Brother Peter Gym. Last year, in the finals of the Division 7 Class 4A basketball tournament in Oak Grove, the Rocks played the #1 ranked Picayune Maroon Tide and lost 54-52 on a last second shot.

Two years ago, the Rocks played the Harrison Central Red Rebels in B. Frank Brown Gymnasium in Gulfport and lost on a last second shot 34-32.

Harrison Central went on to win the Class 5A state championship that year. As far back as the 1968-69 season, the Rocks played Gulfport High School in sub-district competition and lost to the Bert Jenkins coached team by four points.

When the buzzer sounded, Gulfport had won the game and showed why they were ranked number one in the state of Mississippi. However, the Admirals knew that they were in a battle when they left the Brother Peter Gym. Gulfport (26-0) posted the 58-32 win over the Rocks (22-6) but it wasn't necessarily easy.

Gulfport head coach Brian Caldwell stated, "We have to give credit to St. Stanislaus for a game well played."

"I think the Coach Jay Ladner and SSC had a tremendous game plan tonight. Their plan was to control the tempo by slowing the game down. They did an excellent job at that."

"To our credit, we responded by being more patient and showed that we are poised enough to play any tempo. It is no secret that we would love to run the court, but I think our kids showed that they are mature enough to accept what another team does and play within the limits they give us."

SSC and Gulfport battled to a 6-6 tie in the first period. Calm and patient shots were the name of the game in the opening period. The second period was a disaster after Gabe Willis hit a shot at 7:31 to put the Rocks up 8-6.

For the next 1:27, the Gulfport Admirals went on a 10-0 run and double the Rocks score to go up 16-8. But, the Rocks kept up the intensity even when the shots didn't fall.

The Admirals took a 26-13 lead into half-time but were respectful of the Rocks' perimeter game.

The Admirals pressured the perimeter shooting of SSC in the third period to their advantage and took a 40-17 lead by the end of the third period.

In the fourth period, SSC went shot for shot with Gulfport but didn't make up any ground as they lost 55-32. In the game, the Rocks held the Admirals to 32 points under their season average of 87 points per game. Also, SSC held their best player, Henry Salter (23 ppg) to just nine points and only one double-digit scorer on the team.

SSC head coach Jay Ladner commented, "Even when we were down 26-13 at half-time, we felt we were still in it. The third period Gulfport made their shots and ours didn't fall. We like to run the court and pressure like the Admirals; however, when Gulfport is able to go 15 deep on the bench, it is difficult for us to run like we are used to."

"Our players battled hard all game and played with intensity. As far as what we did tonight against the number team in the state, we had a chance. But, offensively, as the game wore on we did not make enough shots."

Tim Holmes led Gulfport with 13 points followed by Henry Salter with nine points. SSC was led by Darius Acker with eight points followed by Gabe Willis with six points.

SSC plays again for Hoops Fest 2002 in the Mississippi Coast Coliseum on Saturday. SSC will play St. John in the 3:30 p.m. game. Gulfport will play on Thursday, Jan. 31.

The Admirals will dedicate their new gymnasium, the Bert Jenkins Gymnasium, at 6 p.m. followed by one varsity boys game against the Hancock Hawks.

Coach Caldwell stated, "We thought it was appropriate that Gulfport and Hancock play to dedicate the gym after all the stellar battles between the two schools in the past. Bert Jenkins will be on hand for the dedication" as will former Hancock head coach Roland Ladner.

"Some other coaches that will be on hand are former SSC and Long Beach coach Bob Cuccaro, former Gulfport coach Gerald Austin, and former Hattiesburg coach Sam Hollingsworth."

The SSC soccer team disposed of the D'Iberville Warriors 6-1 in the first round of the state playoffs. Peter Doty ran his season goal total to 42 with two scores in the game. He is now eight shy of the school record set back in 1994 by Konstantin Koloskov. Kyle Lewis, Brennan Brooks, Michael Leonard, and Patrick Donohoe all added a goal for the Rocks in the win.

The win sends the Rocks on the road Saturday, February 2, to play Brookhaven who was a 7-6 winner in double overtime over West Jones on Tuesday. SSC head coach Andy Kivlan stated, "It took us a while to get started because of the strategy of D'Iberville. We kept putting pressure on the ball to control the tempo of the game."

As we pressured the ball more and more, we were able to get some shots to go in."

The only score for D'Iberville came on a penalty kick by Darren McCaleb. SSC, goalie Sea Olsen stopped the shot but McCaleb scored off the rebound. D'Iberville ends its season with an 8-3-3 record.

The OLA Crescents shut out Clarkdale 9-0 to advance to the second round of the playoffs. Scoring details for OLA and the Bay High Lady Tigers were not available at press time.

Donne draws international scholars to Coast

Some 60 literary scholars from the U.S. and abroad are set to gather at the University of Southern Mississippi's Gulf Park campus in Long Beach Feb. 21-23 for the John Donne Society's 17th annual international conference.

Donne devotees from across the United States and Canada and such exotic locales as Finland, Holland and Israel will converge at Southern Miss' coastal Conference Center to present, hear and discuss papers regarding the work, life and times of the 17th-century British divine and poet John Donne.

Considered the greatest of the metaphysical poets, Donne penned such well-known phrases as "Death be not proud," "for whom the bell tolls" and "no man is an island."

In total, 16 presentations are scheduled from 4:30 p.m.
Thursday, Feb. 21, to 3:30 p.m. that Saturday.

Principal speakers and their topics include: Dr.
Judith Anderson of Indiana

University, presenting "How Metaphor and Metonymy
Figure in Donne's Devotions, and Why We Should Care"; Dr. M. Thomas Hester of North Carolina State University, "Reading 'more wit' in Donne"; and incoming 2002 Donne Society
President Dr. Jeanne Shami of the University of Regina (Saskatchewan) in Canada,
"Being Poetical: Donne's Sermons in the Public Sphere."

The John Donne Society was founded at Southern Miss' Gulf Park conference center in 1986 and has sponsored annual conferences there ever since.

The Society was in part an outgrowth of the ongoing project to produce The Variorum Edition of the Poetry of John Donne - initiated in 1981 by Dr. Gary Stringer, a professor of English at USM (Hattiesburg), who serves as general editor of the eight-volume edition and also is the society's outgoing (2001) president.

The variorum project also involves more than 30 additional editors and consultants from the U.S., Canada, England, Japan, The Netherlands and South Africa.

The Donne Variorum has been hailed in reviews as "a landmark edition," "an occasion for celebration" and "the most significant project being undertaken in Renaissance English literary studies today."

The Variorum's Volume 2:
The Elegies topped more than a dozen other nominations to win the South
Central Modern Language Association's Book Award in November of 2001 as the "Best Book Published by a Member of the Association" during 2000.

Currently, three of the edition's eight planned volumes have been published and are available from Indiana University Press, and a fourth - dealing with Donne's widely admired Holy Sonnets - is to be released later this year.

The variorum has received grant support since 1986 from the National Endowment for the Humanities and matching funds from the USM Foundation.

Conference presentations are open to the public.

For more information, contact Stringer at USM in Hattiesburg, (601) 266-5619;
by e-mail at <gary.stringer@usm.edu>; or call the USM Gulf Park Conference Center in Long Beach at (228) 865-4508.

More information and scholarly resources related to the Donne Variorum are available via the project's web site at <http://donnevariorum.libarts.usm.edu/> (do

Ocean Springs hosts 'Herb Fest'

The Herb & Garden Fest,
an award-winning spring
event held in downtown Ocean Springs and sponsored by the Ocean Springs Chamber of Commerce-Main Street Visitors Center along with community volunteers, will be March 23 and 24.

This two-day learning event celebrates the growth, culinary and medicinal use of plants in our daily lives.

There are activities for young and old, novices and masters in the multi-faceted offering which features the growth and use of the daylily, Ocean Springs' city flower, and Echinacea, the national herb for 2002.

Shop through the wide variety of vendors. Visit the Peace Pole Garden. Catch the free mini-lectures and demonstrations offered all day, both days.

Relax while listening to live music by local musicians, and chat with the experts while the children participate in fun-filled learning activities in the outdoor area surrounding the historic L&N Depot and Marshall Park.

Participate in guided Garden Tours and Herb Walks through the unique private gardens opened especially to festival visitors for sharing and learning.

Attractions to include:

- Vendors - plants,
books, fine art and crafts,
herbal products, gardening supplies, healing arts and much more.

- Live music
- Children's activities
- Demonstrations and Exhibits

- Herb Walks
- Garden Tours
- Herb and Flower Beds
- Free lectures:
  - * Gardening
  - * Identification of herbs
  - * Culinary use of herbs and flowers

- * Traditional medicinal herbalism
- * Healing arts

State spring garden shows planned

Two Mississippi cities will host major garden and patio shows this spring promising something for everyone.

The first event will be at the Orange Grove Lyman Community Center on Highway 49 in Gulfport on Feb. 23 and 24.

The second show will be at the fairgrounds in Jackson in the Agricultural and Industry Building on March 9 and 10.

Both shows will be from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. on the first days, and from noon until 5 p.m. on the second days.

Admission will be $3 for people age 14 and older.

The public is invited to bring plants with problems, soil for testing and landscape questions for answers from Mississippi State University Extension

Service experts and industry representatives.

The shows will include educational seminars, techniques on gardening and the latest trends. Visitors will have the opportunity to purchase from retailers.

The shows are hosted by the MSU Extension Service.
